The Scottish Government announced new rules on Tuesday 22 September 2020.

coronavirus

These changes have been introduced because more people are getting coronavirus (COVID-19). The changes are:

safely

Meeting people safely

- You are not allowed to visit other people's homes.

rule

This rule does not apply if you have formed an extended household. An extended household includes:

- people who live alone or alone with children
- couples who do not live together

Tradespeople and grandparents providing childcare are also excluded from this rule.

fine

- People should work from home if they can do so effectively. This must be agreed with your employer.
- People who work in public sector and essential services should continue to go to work.
- Anyone else who cannot work from home should go to their place of work as normal.
- Businesses which sell food and drink must close at 10pm. This includes pubs, restaurants and entertainment venues such as social clubs and bingo halls.
- Businesses which sell food and drink can only offer table service. This means you will order your food and drink at your table.
- You must provide your contact details when visiting hospitality venues for Test and Protect. Test and Protect helps stop the spread of Coronavirus by informing people if they have been in contact with someone who has tested positive for Coronavirus.

Face coverings

- In indoor places and places where social distancing is difficult, you are expected to wear a face covering.
- Customers visiting restaurants, cafes and other hospitality venues must wear a face covering. You can remove your face covering when sitting at a table to eat and drink.
- If you break the rules a police officer may issue you with a fine of £60. The maximum fine can be up to £10,000 for serious breaches of the rules.

Protect Scotland App

The free NHS Scotland Protect Scotland app has been designed to help protect people, reduce the spread of coronavirus and avoid further lockdowns.

By using the app and following current health guidelines we can all stay safe when we meet up, socialise, work or travel.
