

Meet Our New Chairperson

Hello. My name is Steven Whalley, and I was delighted to be appointed as the Chairperson of the Equal Futures Board in April. I have been on the Board since July 2021, and this was the first position I took up after I retired at the end of 2020.

exciting

I am married with three adult children (two boys and a girl) and live in West Linton, which is in the Scottish Borders, 19 miles south of Edinburgh.

I have worked in Financial Services for over 40 years. This included working for well-known companies like the Prudential, Scottish Equitable (now known as AEGON) and Standard Life. My roles had been in marketing and in risk and compliance. This background gives me a combination of making sure we are focused on those we need to support and that we manage ourselves to do it to the best of our ability.

This is a really exciting time for Equal Futures. There are opportunities to do what we do, so well, for many other people. This is because of the strength of being part of the Thera Trust organisation. Working with other companies in the organisation, it's easier to identify and then operate in new areas. We are considering extending what we do beyond Scotland into England. This would not be possible if no one recognised the value of what we do in befriending people and developing circles of support.

My thanks go to all the staff and volunteers who do such a marvellous job and have got us this recognition.

The Board is determined to do its best for Equal Futures, so I'm glad to take this chance to thank the other Board members - Ken, Alex, Simon, and Francesca - for all their work, along with Shona and Katie for all they do for the Board too.

I have had the opportunity to attend some great events organised by coordinators and look forward to attending more in the future. I hope this gives me a chance to say hello in person.

Thera Trust Staff Awards

public speaking

Last month the Equal Futures team attended the Thera Trust Staff Awards at their head office in Grantham. Our Project Coordinators, Jane and Shona, delivered a presentation highlighting the fantastic work that Equal Futures do.

It was a wonderful opportunity to meet our Thera Trust colleagues who we work with on a daily basis but have never met face to face.

The team received glowing feedback from Thera staff, who were fascinated to learn more about the work we do, the people we help, and our wonderful volunteers.

Jane and Shona certainly have a flair for public speaking - there will be no stopping them now.

The Glasgow Kiltwalk 2023!

raised

We completed the Glasgow Kiltwalk on Sunday 30 April. The weather was dreich, but I suppose we are used to that living in Scotland. The atmosphere was amazing, and it is lovely to see all the walkers out raising money for their chosen charity. To date, we have raised £1,135. We would like to say a massive thank you to everyone that's donated and to everyone that took part in the walk with us.

september

We will be taking part in the Edinburgh Kiltwalk in September. If you want to take part, please let your Coordinator know. Contact details are at the end of this newsletter.

thank you

Special thank you to Chris McFadden for his fantastic fundraising efforts at the Glasgow Kiltwalk.

Chris raised a huge £555 for Equal Futures.

Scottish Learning Disability week

celebrate thanks

leadership

To Celebrate Scottish Learning Disability week at the beginning of this month, Equal Futures teamed up with Gig Biddies and Thera Scotland to host a Leadership Conversation Café - #LeadToChange.

Thanks again to the super staff at Motability operations for providing the venue.

It was a fantastic opportunity to get the people we support and befrienders together to learn about leadership and discuss how they were leaders in their own lives.

Volunteer Training April 2023

training

We held our latest Volunteer training at Virgin Money Bank in Glasgow. They kindly let us access one of their training rooms where we were able to deliver our training to a group of new volunteers.

Feedback from the trainees on the day was very positive. It was heart-warming to see all the new skills, experience and knowledge this new intake would bring to our existing volunteer cohort

subjects

We covered - amongst a host of subjects:

- the history of Equal Futures, our mission, and our values
- an introduction into learning disability and autism
- communication
- forming new relationships
- confidentiality and boundaries
- the different volunteering roles within Equal Futures
- importance of measuring the impact we make.

face-to-face

We love being able to run training face-to-face when we can. It is a fantastic opportunity to bring some of our superb volunteers together as a group and promote the strong team ethic we have at Equal Futures.

Volunteer Fair Glasgow

partnership

We have recently begun working in partnership with City of Glasgow College. We are now part of their Volunteering Hub and are advertising our opportunities within the college.

volunteer

We were invited along to their recent Volunteering Event in April. It was a wonderful opportunity to showcase the great work we do and speak to potential volunteers.

What is a Circle of Support?

circle of support

friendly

include

A Circle of Support is a group that meets approximately every 2 months to support a person with a learning disability or autism. This support can also offer benefits to the family of the person supported, such as community and advice.

Circles of Support provide friendly groups for the person we support to make plans, set targets to aid progress, and gain relevant support.

Circles of Support include:

- people who know the person well – including any appropriate family members and friends
- volunteers
- an Equal Futures Project Coordinator who organises and attends circle meetings
- an emphasis on helping a person achieve their goals, try new hobbies, and make meaningful social connections
- a person-centred approach focused on the person we support's voice and needs

do you

Does this sound like something you want in your life, or do you know someone who may benefit from having a circle of support? Could you help someone by being a part of their circle?

If you said yes to any of the above, please get in touch with your Coordinator. Contact details are at the end of this newsletter.
