email address and their postal address.
How long will we keep your information for? We will keep a copy of your medical records and any medicines administered by our staff for 20 years. After this it will be securely destroyed. Unless there are exceptional circumstances, we will keep all other information relating to yourself until we have stopped supporting you for 8 years. After this it will be securely destroyed. We may ask if we can keep some information about you as an example of the 'Life of Thera'. This will be so it can be added to our historical archive documenting the Company's history. This information is kept indefinitely.

Young people

Some companies within Thera Group provide support to children and young people to undertake activities such as youth clubs.

Data we collect and why	Lawful basis for processing	Where the data is collected from
Youth club(s) We will collect your name, home address and contact details so that we can keep a record of your attendance and know who is attending the youth club The information will be requested for health and safety reasons (ie fire evacuation, for processing your payment for attendance, contact details so that we can make you aware of any upcoming events or invite you to events and make you aware of for processing and the personal data (and special category data) collected]	part of a contract	- The parent/guardian - The child, if over 13 years old and considered competent to provide this information accurately.
Emergency contact information This information will be requested for all children and young people attending activities provided by Thera Group. It is required so that parents/guardians can be contacted in the event of an accident or incident during the activity. The information collected for this may include the child/young person's name, the name of their emergency contact, the relationship between the child/young person and their emergency contact, the emergency contacts telephone number(s), and email address.	Legitimate interest: We need to be able to inform someone of the situation about an accident or incident if the child/young person is not able to do so for themselves.	- The parent/guardian - The child, if over 13 years old and considered competent to provide this information accurately.

How long will we keep your information for?

Until you are 25 or 6 years after the last update of your information. Emergency contact information will be kept for 2 years from the date your support ended

Our website is not directed to children under the age of 18, and we do not knowingly collect or process personal data from children save for in the instances stated above. If we become aware that we have inadvertently collected additional personal information from a child without appropriate parental or guardian consent, we will take steps to delete the information as soon as possible. If you believe we may have inadvertently collected data from a child, please contact us.

Family and friends

Thera Group acts as a family. Anyone directly involved with us as an employee, a supported person or volunteer is part of our family. This section provides information on the personal data we process for the family members of supported people and their friends (including professional friends, such as care managers).

Data we collect and why	Lawful basis for processing	Where the data is collected from
Emergency contact information We may collect the emergency contact details for the family of supported people, staff and volunteers because we feel strongly about our duty of care to them and believe that most would want someone to be informed if they were involved in an accident. The information collected for this may include your name, your relationship to Thera Group, the name of your emergency contact, their telephone number(s), their email address and their postal address.	Legitimate interest: We want to be able to inform someone if a supported person, employee or volunteer is involved in an accident or emergency and they are not able to do so themselves.	- You - A supported person
Marketing materials Friends and family can 'sign up' for marketing materials. These can be newsletters, general information about the organisation or notifications about events in the local area. To send you marketing materials, we will need to collect your name, contact telephone number(s), email address and postal address.	Consent: This information will only be sent if you have given us permission. Your consent can be withdrawn at any time.	- You - Your friend or family member.
How long will we keep your information for?

Emergency contact information will remain with the individual's file. Please see how long we will keep your information for people we support, staff and volunteers. Marketing information will remain on the system for 2 years unless a request to withdraw consent has been received.

Staff, applicants and agency workers

Our staff are at the centre of everything we do. Without them we would not be able to help the people we support on a daily basis. The information we collect and process about our (potential) staff is what we need to process legally as an (prospective) employer and so we can support them in the valuable work they do.

Data we collect and why	Lawful basis for processing	Where the data is collected from
Recruitment We need information about you to ascertain your suitability for the position. You may be transferring from another service provider or applying through a recruitment agency. Information that we would need to process would include your full name, date of birth, contact details, possibly TUPE transfer information, as well as reference requests and your National Insurance number. Special category data relating to your enhanced DBS/PVG check, eligibility to work in the UK information, and occupational health referrals and disabilities. Criminal Offence Data may be contained within your enhanced DBS/PVG check.	Contract: This is so we can employ you with a Contract of Employment. email address and their postal address.
How long will we keep your information for? We will keep information regarding your pension until you are 75 years old, unless you inform us that you are accessing your pension. After this it will be securely destroyed. Unless there are exceptional circumstances, we will keep all other Information relating to yourself until you have stopped working for us for 6 years. After this it will be securely destroyed. We may ask if we can keep some information about you as an example of the 'Life of Thera'. This will be so it can be added to our historical archive documenting the Company's history. This information is kept indefinitely.

Volunteers

Volunteers are used in a variety of roles and provide an invaluable service to Thera Group and the people we support. They are not paid and the information we collect about our volunteers is to ensure that the people we support are safe and to make the best use of the time and expertise of our volunteers.

Data we collect and why	Lawful basis for processing	Where the data is collected from
Recruitment We need to know about you so that we can make the best use of your time and expertise. We will collect information like your name, age, date of birth, contact details such as telephone number and email address, employment history, information on your CV and references. We also conduct an enhanced DBS/PVG check which will reveal personal data about you, including your National Insurance number. A DBS/PVG check may also reveal criminal offence data about you. How long we keep your personal data

We will keep your personal data in line with our internal policies and procedures, applicable laws and for no longer than is necessary to fulfil the purpose(s) we collected it for.

When deciding how long to retain personal data we will consider:

- The purpose(s) for which it was collected and whether we can achieve that purpose through other means,
- Whether the use is limited to a specific project timeframe,
- Any legal (e.g., tax law often requires data to be retained for 6 plus current tax years) or best practice requirements for data retention that may apply,
- The amount, nature and sensitivity of the personal data involved,
- The risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal information, and
- Our understanding of the expectations of data subjects.

Consequently, retention periods will vary. We have included retention periods above, depending upon your relationship with us, but if you require further details on specific retention periods, please contact our DPO.

Your rights

Information on the rights available to you under data protection law is set out below. In most circumstances, we have one month to respond to you but if we require more time, we will let you know why. In very limited circumstances, we may charge a fee.

If you ask another person to help you exercise your data protection rights, we must be satisfied that the third party making the request is entitled to act on your behalf, and we will ask for evidence of this. For example, by requesting a written authority, signed by you, stating that you give the third-party permission to make a request on their behalf.

Please note we do not use any automated decision-making or profiling (as defined in data protection law).

YOUR RIGHT	DETAILS

Right to be informed	We have a legal obligation to provide you with concise, transparent, intelligible, and easily accessible information about your personal data and our use of it. We have written this privacy notice to do just that, but if you have any questions or require more specific information please contact data.protection@thera.co.uk
Right of access	You have the right to ask us for copies of your personal data. This right always applies. There are some exemptions, which means you may not always receive all the information. When you request this request, it is known as a data subject access request (DSAR). In most cases, this will be free of charge; however, in some limited circumstances, for example repeated requests for further copies, we may apply an administration fee.
Right to rectification	You have the right to ask us to rectify personal data you think is inaccurate. You also have the right to ask us to complete information you think is incomplete. This right always applies.
Right to erasure	You have the right to ask us to erase your personal data in certain circumstances. We have the right to refuse to comply with a request for erasure if we are processing the relevant personal data for one of the following reasons: • To comply with a legal obligation. • To perform a task in the public interest or exercise official authority. • For archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific research, historical research or statistical purposes. • For the exercise or defence of legal claims.
Right to restriction of processing	You may ask us to stop processing your personal data. We will still hold the data but will not process it any further. This right is an alternative to the right to erasure. If one of the following conditions applies, the right to restrict processing applies: • The accuracy of the personal data is contested. • Processing of the personal data is unlawful. • We no longer need the personal data for processing, but the personal data is required for part of a legal process. • The right to object has been exercised and processing is restricted pending a decision on the status of the processing.
Right to object to processing	You have the right to object to processing in certain circumstances. You can object if the processing is for a task carried out in the public interest, the exercise of official authority vested in you, or your legitimate interests (or those of a third party). You have an absolute right to stop your personal data being used for direct marketing purposes. Where we send you electronic marketing you can unsubscribe at any time by clicking the unsubscribe link in the emails or by contacting us at communications@thera.co.uk. For post marketing, please contact us at communications@thera.co.uk. Please note that it may take up to 30 days for your request to opt out of marketing to be fully processed in our systems and we kindly ask that you disregard any marketing you receive from us during that time.

Right to data portability	This right only applies if we are processing personal data based on your consent or for the performance of a contract and the processing is automated.

Where we rely upon your consent for processing your personal data, you may withdraw that consent at any time by contacting us as follows – dataprotection@thera.co.uk. Please note this will not affect the lawfulness of the processing before the point at which you withdraw your consent nor, when applicable law allows, will it affect the processing of your personal information on the basis of any other lawful ground other than consent.

Transferring your personal data overseas

Your personal data may be transferred outside the UK when we engage third party suppliers. For example, we engage third-party software providers (e.g., Microsoft) that may, in deliverance of the services they provide, transfer your personal data outside the UK.

Our servers and systems typically store personal data in the EU but a small proportion of the personal data we collect and process is also stored in the United States of America.

To safeguard your personal data we ensure that all international transfers comply with applicable data protection laws. We undertake thorough due diligence and risk assessments before any data transfer, ensuring your information has an appropriate level of protection in the receiving country. Where required, we implement legal safeguards to ensure your data is handled securely and lawfully. The safeguards we typically apply are adequacy regulations or standard contractual clauses.

If we store or transfer personal data to other jurisdictions not mentioned below, we will tell you about the transfer and the safeguards in place to protect your personal data, before the transfer.

You can find out more details of the protection given to your personal data when it is transferred overseas by contacting us.

Use of Artificial Intelligence (AI)

As part of our ongoing commitment to efficiency and innovation, we may use Artificial Intelligence (AI) systems to support the delivery of our services. These systems may assist with tasks such as data analysis, communication drafting, or customer support. The Group uses Copilot (an AI system) as the only form of AI data gathering

All AI tools we use are subject to robust oversight and are deployed in accordance with applicable data protection laws. We ensure that any personal data processed by AI is handled lawfully, fairly, and transparently, with appropriate safeguards in place.

Where AI is used in a way that materially influences decisions or communications affecting you, we retain human oversight and are happy to explain how the technology supports our work. If you have any questions or concerns about our use of AI, please contact us.

The National Data Opt-Out

We comply with the NHS National Data Opt-Out policy. This means you can choose not to have your confidential patient information used for purposes beyond your individual care, such as research and planning.

We ensure that everyone we support is informed of this right and given the opportunity to opt out. For more information, visit <https://www.nhs.uk/your-nhs-data-matters>.

Questions or concerns

If you have any concerns about our handling of your personal information or believe your privacy rights have been infringed, you have the right to make a complaint. We are committed to resolving privacy-related complaints promptly and effectively.

We encourage you to contact us directly so that we can address any issues promptly. However, if you are not satisfied with our response, you may also have the right to file a complaint directly with the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) and/or to data.protection@thera.co.uk where the complaint will be handled under our company Making a Comment or Complaint policy.
